What's in Language Fundamentals?

Language Fundamentals is your comprehensive resource for grade-level grammar, mechanics, usage, and vocabulary practice. The broad scope of language skills and the range in difficulty of the activity pages enables you to precisely target those skills that each student needs to practice.

Targeted Skill Practice

The core of Language Fundamentals is the 160-plus pages of student-friendly skill activities.

The diagram illustrates the layout of a worksheet page from Language Fundamentals. The worksheet itself is a rectangular box containing a name line, a skill section header, an instructional rule box, a list of activities, and a footer. Five callout boxes point to specific parts of the worksheet:

- Lesson identifier to let you know the skill section and the page within that section. Points to the 'Sentences 16' header.
- Instructional rule box with examples to show students how the rule is applied in writing and to provide a reference for students as they complete the page. Points to the box containing the definition of a compound sentence and the examples.
- One or more activities to practice the rule. Most activities revolve around a theme, elevating student interest. Directions are age appropriate. Points to the list of five activities.
- Skill identifier to indicate specific skill within the section. Points to the '100 Compound Sentences' footer.
- A fifth callout points to the 'Language Fundamentals • EMC 2756 • © Evan-Moor Corp.' footer.

Review Pages

There are 33 review pages presented in multiple-choice test format to provide test-prep practice. Each review covers a small subset of skills and may be used as an assessment of student skill acquisition.

Paragraph Editing

These pages provide students with an opportunity to edit and correct paragraphs containing errors commonly made at this grade level. Each page is tied to specific skills addressed in the Targeted Skill Practice pages. After practicing a skill, students can use the corresponding pages in this section to transfer the skill to the context of writing.

A reproducible chart of proofreading marks is provided on page 185. Students can refer to this chart when editing those pages that direct students to use proofreading marks.

My soccer coach retired this year. He was my coach for several years, so I wanted to do something special for him. My mom makes the better chocolate chip cookies in the world, so I decided to ask her to help me bake some for him. It was an interesting experience because I had never baked before!

"Mom, may you help me bake some cookies?" I asked.

"What? You, bake? For who?" she asked, shocked.

"I want to make them for Coach Brewer's retirement party."

Mom taught me the basics of baking. I think I did pretty good! I insisted on doing most of it myself. Mom showed me how to measure the ingredients, told me what the abbreviations meant, and reminded me to keep an eye on the cookies in the oven. My only big mistake was when I lay the butter on the table and our cat ate it. That went bad.

I thought the cookies were really well. I hope Coach likes them. I don't have no other presents!

"Who's cookies are these?" Coach asked, with a cookie in his mouth.

"They're mine," I answered. "I baked them."

"You're kidding!" he exclaimed. "I might have to retire again next year just to get some more of these cookies!"

My favorite picture from the party is of Coach and I with cookie crumbs all over our faces!

Use Language Fundamentals to Reteach and Reinforce

As a supplement to your core language arts program

What if...

- you've finished the material on a particular skill in your core program and your students still don't seem to get it?
- there is an objective in your state standards that is not covered in the core program?
- you need homework materials to reinforce the core program lessons?
- you have a new student who missed a number of vital language lessons?
- you want to provide a resource teacher, after-school program, or tutor with language practice that connects with class work?
- you want to provide ongoing test-prep exercises as you move through your language program?

Language Fundamentals can meet all these needs.

As an at-the-ready resource for those teachable moments

What if...

- you grade student essays and find a wide variety of errors, and you want to ensure that each student's needs are met?
- you grade vocabulary quizzes and realize that some students have little transference of affix meaning from a known word to an unfamiliar word?
- you notice that several students' personal narratives contain errors in subject and object pronoun usage?

Language Fundamentals has practice to address these skill needs.

As the perfect companion for Evan-Moor's Daily Language Review

Thousands of grade 1 through 6 classrooms use Daily Language Review for focused practice and review. Multiple studies show that this type of distributed, or spaced, practice is a powerful strategy for achieving proficiency and retention of skills.

Student responses on the weekly Daily Language Review units will indicate those skills needing further reinforcement. Language Fundamentals can then be used to provide the reteaching and additional practice. For example:

The student makes errors in week 12 of Daily Language Review. Your assessment is that the student needs more practice with these skills because:

- the student does not use a comma to separate a quotation from the rest of the sentence.
- the student identifies adverbs as adjectives.

Use these pages from Language Fundamentals to reteach and practice the skills the student has not mastered.

Punctuation 11

When you write the exact words that someone says, use commas to set off the quotation from the rest of the sentence.

Eli said, "Let's play a board game."
"I think that playing cards is more fun," said Eli's mother.
"Well," said Eli, "we could do both."

Add commas where they are needed in the following sentences.

- Mia asked "What was it like growing up in the 1970s?"
- Her mother said that the music was the best part.
- "I was just a kid" Mrs. Hirano explained.
- "I'll bet you were quite a disco dancer" Mia said.
- "No" said Mrs. Hirano. "I was more into punk."
- Mia asked "Did you like bell bottoms and platform shoes?"
- "Sure" Mrs. Hirano replied.
- "I hope you didn't have any of that ally orange and green furniture" Mia said.
- "Well" said Mrs. Hirano "we did have an orange couch."
- "I'm glad I didn't grow up in the 1970s" said Mia.

The past tense of most verbs is formed by adding ed to the verb. Verbs that follow this rule are called regular verbs. For some regular verbs, you must make spelling changes before adding the ed ending.

- When a regular verb ends with one vowel and one consonant, double the final consonant before adding ed.

|                |         |        |         |
|----------------|---------|--------|---------|
| Present | stop    | rub    | plan    |
| Past    | stopped | rubbed | planned |

- When a regular verb ends in a silent e, drop that e before adding ed.

|                |        |       |       |
|----------------|--------|-------|-------|
| Present | snore  | type  | save  |
| Past    | snored | typed | saved |

- When a regular verb ends in a consonant followed by a y, change the y to i and add ed.

|                |         |         |         |
|----------------|---------|---------|---------|
| Present | hurry   | marry   | study   |

Read the letter below. Draw three lines under the first letter of each word that needs to be capitalized.

september 1, 2007

Dear Margo,

So much has changed since I moved to Austin in may. I spent the first monday I was here in the district office, trying to figure out which school I should attend. By tuesday, I was sitting in Fifth Street Elementary School.

By june, I'd made a few friends, but no one like you. One saturday, a few of us had a great hiking adventure. We got so lost, I wasn't sure we'd be home by sunday.

July and august were okay, but mainly I traveled with my parents. I missed our friday movie nights.

Now that it's september again, I'll have to get back to school. We start on the tuesday after Labor Day. How about you? Write back soon!

Love,

Rachel

Capitalize the names of holidays.

Independence Day

Presidents' Day

Hanukkah

Kwanzaa

Christmas Day

Memorial Day

Labor Day

New Year's Day

Juneteenth

Read the paragraph carefully. Draw three lines under the first letter of a word that needs to be capitalized.

Many important things have happened in U.S. history on holidays. Take independence day, for example. On July 4, 1776, we know that the Declaration of Independence was signed. On July 4, 1827, slavery was outlawed in New York State. Other historic events have also happened on holidays. On new year's day in 1808, the Congress of the United States banned the practice of importing people to be sold as slaves. Enslaved people in Texas found out that they had been freed on June 19, 1864, and this day has since been celebrated as juneteenth. On christmas day 1868, President Andrew Johnson pardoned all Southerners who took part in the Civil War. The memorial day holiday was first celebrated after the Civil War to honor the fallen soldiers.

Read the story. Circle the words that need to be capitalized.

I'm studying the civil war in school this year. Last year, my family and I visited Gettysburg, Pennsylvania. We stayed near gettysburg college. My father was excited to find a store called civil war memories there. Dad is a member of the wallingford historical society, and he enjoys looking at books and photographs from other eras. He bought a copy of a book by Frederick Douglass, a driving force in the abolitionist movement. We walked all over the battlefields of Gettysburg, where we saw the pennsylvania memorial, the gettysburg hospital, and many other sites dedicated to the memory of those who fought there. We took a tour with a park ranger in which we walked in formation like the soldiers along the path known as railroad cut. One interesting place we visited was the jennie wade house. jennie wade was the only civilian killed during the battle of gettysburg. She was killed while baking bread for the union soldiers.

Ms. Washington teaches language arts, but she also is our school's drama teacher. This spring, Ms. Washington needed to choose a play cast the parts and then start rehearsals, all by the end of the April. She decided on the musical You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown. I was cast as Lucy DeyShaun was cast as Charlie Brown and Pedro was cast as Snoopy. We did warm-up exercises read the script together and then tried to act it out. Ms. Washington frowned grimaced and laughed as we struggled to bring the play to life. A piano player came played the score and directed our singing. Some parents took our measurements brought in some sewing machines and made costumes. The technical crew met with the director drew up some plans and made our set. As the weeks went by, we rehearsed our lines practiced our singing and learned some new dances. On opening night, we went onstage performed like pros and took our bows. The director the pianist and the stage crew took bows, too.

Use a comma between the name of the city and the name of the state, country, or province.

Dallas, Texas

Rome, Italy

Toronto, Ontario

Use a comma to set off the state, country, or province name from the rest of the sentence.

We flew from Boston, Massachusetts, to London, England, last June.

We visited my aunt and uncle in Winnipeg, Manitoba, the year before.

Proofread the paragraph and correct any errors by adding commas where they are needed.

My father and I are big fans of museums. In New York New York there are many world-class museums, such as the Museum of Modern Art, the Metropolitan Museum of Art, and the Guggenheim Museum. The Walters Art Gallery in Baltimore Maryland is another fine museum. The Art Institute of Chicago is on South Michigan Avenue, in Chicago Illinois and it's my dad's favorite. One year, my family went to Paris France on a trip to see my mother's relatives. We went to the Louvre Museum and saw the Mona Lisa. My oldest brother is attending college in Houston Texas where they have the fantastic Rice University Art Gallery. Next year, my father is going to take us to the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts, which is in Montreal Quebec. We're driving there from our home in Hampton New Hampshire. I can't wait!

Use a comma in a compound sentence. Place the comma before the coordinating conjunction, such as and, but, or or, that joins the two independent clauses of the sentence.

I like to go to bookstores, and I always find a book to buy.

I was tired from practice, but I still had homework to do before I went to bed.

Add a comma before the conjunction that joins the two main parts of each compound sentence.

1. Lacie is a good swimmer and she can also run very fast.
2. Her brother Emilio plays soccer after school or he goes to swim practice.
3. Lacie's sister Rosa would rather read at home but sometimes Lacie and Emilio convince her to play outdoors with them.

- Use lie to mean “to rest or recline.”

Cujo lies on my bed after dinner.

- Use lay to mean “to put or place.”

Sometimes I lay down my book and play with him.

Proofread this paragraph. Correct any mistakes.

I like to keep my room very organized so I can find what I need. For instance, as soon as I come home from school, I lie my backpack on the floor by my chair. I take out the books I need for homework and lie those on top of the desk. My hamster’s cage is on the right side of my desk. I always greet Hammy and pet him, but he usually just lays there. He’s not very exciting. All he does is lie one piece of cedar shaving on top of another. When I finish my homework, I lie the paper on the left side of my desk for my mom to review. Before I lay down at night, I make sure everything is put away in its correct place. My clothes are organized by color, and my books are arranged alphabetically on the shelves. I even lie my glasses in the same place so I can find them in the morning. My friends tell me I should just lay back and relax at home, but I prefer to keep things neat.

Write two sentences using the words in parentheses.

1. (lie) _____

_____

2. (lay) _____

_____

The words lie and lay are often confused.

- Use lie to mean “to rest or recline.”

Our class will have a Meeting on tuesday. We will vote on issues that affect the lifes of sixth-grade students. Everyone in the sixth grade will cast a secret ballot. The ballots will be collected in sealed boxs. The principal and our teacher will have the power to veto any motion. If a motion receives these two vetos, it cannot pass. There are two political partys in our class. One calls itself the Foxes, and the other calls itself the Wolfs. The Foxs and the Wolves will elect representatives to sit in the class congress. All the class's in our school are holding elections. We are learning about Democracy.

The art museum in our city is the older one in the state. Paintings by Monet, Picasso, and Cassatt hang in one gallery. Monet was a french painter, Picasso a Spanish painter, and Cassatt an american painter. Monet's paintings have more beautifuller colors than Picasso's paintings. I like the brightest pinks and pale blues that he used to paint taller cathedrals. Monet's paintings seem softest than Picasso's. I once saw a Picasso painting about war in a book. The picasso paintings in our museum are not as scary as this painting in the book. I think that the Cassatt paintings are the better ones in the whole museum. I like the sweet scenes of mothers and children. The expressions are very realistic.

My brother and I collect vinyl records, the kind that our grandparents played on machines called record players. I have many records, but my brother has the most than me. I collect older rock-and-roll records. I have the record by Elvis and one by Chubby Checker. These records are my favorites. A old song called "The Twist" is on the checker record. Everyone danced to that song when my grandmother was the girl. She still dances! She dances when my brother plays his records, too. My brother likes recordings of polka music! He says that the polka is the goodest dance in the world. Our family is polish, and we all like a polka.

Last night, snow fell. My sisters and brothers and me decided to put on our snowshoes and go into the woods today. Snowshoes have been around for a long time. In our barn, we have a really old pair. I took one old snowshoe down from the shelf once. I thought they was a tennis racket! Our modern snowshoes have fancier clamps, but it works the same way. I put on my snowshoes myself, but my youngest brother needs help. He says that it won't be long before he can do it for hisself.

In the woods, my siblings and me found a wide trail. I stopped to adjust Bobby's clamps, and I tightened my, too. The others forged ahead. Bobby and me took our time. We looked for a sign of life along the snowy trail. It wasn't long before we found them. We examined little footprints made by a field mouse. For Bobby and I , the footprints were an exciting discovery. Suddenly, a large crow called from a tree. They reminded us that many creatures live in the winter woods.

On a sunny summer day, many neighbors visit our backyard. Most yards in the neighborhood are small, but our is large. My friends and me have room for running and shady spots for resting. Last night, my dad and mom cooked hot dogs on the grill in the backyard. Some parents don't cook outside, but my like to cook for a crowd in our backyard.

Almost all of the neighbors came over. Ms. Lee brought potato salad. I like potato salad, and her's is the best I've ever tasted. Mr. Carson brought lemonade and soda. Him and Ms. Carson brought lawn chairs, too. There lawn chairs provided all of us places to sit while we waited for a freshly grilled hot dog.

"Whom brought the marshmallows?" I asked after dinner. My older sister Carol brought out a bag of marshmallows for toasting. Her and her friends never forget the marshmallows. Them volunteered to toast a marshmallow for everyone.

As the sun set, the mosquitoes came out. It was time to put on bug spray. The adults talked and laughed while the kids kicked a soccer ball. When it was too dark to see, the other kids and me told stories. What a perfect summer day!

Early yesterday morning, James and Marshall go fishing. They baited their hooks with worms and wait. It was very quiet. All at once, a large fish bursted through the surface of the lake. The scales of the fish gleamed like gold in the sun. The golden fish dive deep again. The boys wondered if they might catch that amazing fish. Marshall says that he would cook the fish if he catched it. James said that he would mount the fish and hang it above the fireplace.

The boys settled back with their fishing poles. Suddenly, the big fish brokeed the surface of the lake again. The fish flipped his golden fins. He shook his tail. The fish, the boys thought, is having a good time. He's showing off! Over and over the gleaming fish jumped.

By the time the fish was finished with his show, the boys finded that they had put down their poles. "I don't want to catch him," Marshall said to James. "I want to see him jump every time I come to the lake."

"Me, too," said James. "I had an idea! The next time we come here, let's bring binoculars instead of poles and hooks."

The first time I seen the room in the attic of our new house, I knowed that I had to make it mine. Our old house were very modern and has only one floor. It was a nice house, but I is thrilled to be moving into our new home.

The attic be a little spooky now, but soon I am making it cozy and cheerful. My dad and mom will help by covering the beams with something called wallboard. Here is some wallpaper samples. I will pick out something pretty to cover the wallboard.

The attic room is huge! There is two windows. Next weekend, Mom helped me find curtains. From one window, I can see big pine trees. The other window is the best part of this attic room. From that window, I can see my best friend's house!

This morning, my mom and dad and I are pack for our summer vacation. Every year, we rents the same cottage at the shore. My dad say the cottage is “rustic.” He means that it is old-fashioned. We likes it that way.

On our first vacation at the cottage, I was surprised not to see a television in the living room. I wonder what we would do in the evenings, but after a few days, I liked the quiet. I started reading some old kids’ books that I found in a bookcase. That is when I discover mystery books. Have you ever heared of Nancy Drew?

Today I am packing two books to read and a board game to play. Earlier today, I buyed stamps at the post office. Next week, I will sent postcards to my friends. The cottage do not have a computer connection, so I have no e-mail!

Monica eager drank the cool water. Maybe running the track at noon, the hottest part of the day, had not been a good idea. Kia had been running, too, but she had run slow than Monica. Now Kia breathed easiest than her friend did. “Monica, let’s run in the morning tomorrow,” Kia suggested. “We’ll be able to run fastest and longest when it is cooler.”

Monica hated to get up more early than necessary, but she agreed to try a morning run the next day. “I’ll set my alarm,” Monica promised.

The next morning, Monica’s alarm rang loudest than a fire alarm, and Monica groaned more long than she ever had before. The sleepy girl pushed a button on the alarm clock. She thought it was the snooze button, but she had turned off the alarm altogether. Before long, Monica was sleeping more deeper than her snoring dog, Buster.

Monica slept. She woke up gradually when Buster licked her nose. The phone was ringing. “Oh, no!” she said to Buster, “Look at the time!”

“Hmm,” Kia said on the phone, “maybe you’d run gooder in the evening than you do in the morning!”

During her long career, Margaret Chase Smith was one of the most important figures in American politics. She was born in 1897 in Maine she would come to serve that state with distinction. In fact, she would become the first woman to serve in both houses of the United States Congress.

Before Margaret Chase became a well-known politician, she worked as a teacher, a telephone operator, a newspaper circulation manager, and an office manager at a textile mill. During that time, she helped to establish a local club for business and professional women later, she became the president of the state office of that club. Her experiences would serve her well.

Mrs. Smith was a committed public servant with strong principles. She stood up to the infamous Senator McCarthy she strongly objected to his scare tactics in 1964, she became the first woman to be placed in nomination for the presidency of the United States by a major political party. Although she never became president, her country has not forgotten her contributions to its government.

She was instrumental in helping women achieve permanent status in the military she traveled to 23 countries during the cold war to improve relations. She held a perfect attendance record in Congress for many years spent very little money on campaigns. Some people told her she could never hope to achieve many of these goals. In response to those attitudes, Margaret Chase Smith said, “When people keep telling you that you can’t do a thing, you kind of like to try it.”

I have been reading about bees. The honeybee is native to Europe. It is native to Africa, too. It is not native to America. Human travelers brought honeybees to America. They brought bees to America because the bees help with plant pollination. They brought bees to America because honeybees produce honey.

Honey is a sweetener that we can use in tea. We can use it in special desserts. In ancient times, honey was used as a salve for wounds. It was used as a salve for wounds because bacteria cannot live in honey. Bacteria cannot pass through a layer of honey. Honey is used in medicines even today. It is used in medicines since it can cover up bitter tastes.

Have you ever been to pittsburgh? Pittsburgh is in pennsylvania. My friend katelyn lives there, and I visit her every november. Last saturday, her parents took us into the city to see the awesome dinosaur skeletons at the carnegie museum of natural history. The huge skeletons tower over the museum visitors. I wanted to study the skeletons, but katelyn's little brother was scared, so we moved on.

Next we went to see the exhibit of minerals and gems. We saw everything from coal to emeralds. The guide had a special machine that clicked and crackled as it measured the amount of radioactivity in the different minerals. the machine is called a Geiger counter because it was invented by a german professor named geiger. I think it would be fun to have a Geiger counter. I would use it to look for special minerals in my backyard.

My cat's name is Tiger Lily. She is both independent and affectionate. I adopted tiger lily from garver animal friends, a shelter on ferry road. It was a cold friday afternoon in early february when my mom and I went to the shelter. Ms. cindric, one of the volunteers at the shelter, told us that a little cat had been found in a recent snowstorm. The cat had not had enough to eat and was very cold.

I called to my mom, "can we keep her?"

"Of course, we can," Mom answered. "we can give her the love and care she needs."

At first, Tiger Lily was very shy, and she hid from us. However, it did not take long for her to learn that the sound of a can opener meant gourmet kitty, her favorite brand of cat food. By presidents' day, Tiger Lily had become a healthy and happy cat. She knows that we love her and will never let her be cold and hungry again.

In the year 1914, a war began in europe. That war would become known first as the Great War, then as the World War, and finally as world war I. War was declared on Serbia by austria on July 28 at 11 o'clock. That was the time when Archduke franz Ferdinand died after being shot as he rode through the streets of sarajevo. The war that began with a shot fired in a small city in serbia would soon engulf much of the world. The united states entered the war in 1917. Many people died. The world would never be the same.

Every year, we honor the veterans of all wars on November 11, veterans day. This holiday was originally called armistice day. The agreement that ended the great war was signed in 1918 on the eleventh day of the eleventh month. At 11 o'clock that day, the guns fell silent.

Nathaniel Hawthorne wrote one of my favorite books. Published in 1853, the book is called tanglewood tales. In that Book, Hawthorne wrote stories based on famous greek myths. He wrote them so that the boys and girls of his century would enjoy them. Today, hawthorne's writing style seems a little old-fashioned, but that is one of the reasons I like it. My favorite story in the book is "the minotaur."

I want to read the house of the seven gables, a novel Hawthorne wrote about a real house in salem, Massachusetts. I visited that amazing house last year. It is a bit spooky. It even has a secret passageway! after I visited the house, I started to read the novel, but it was a little too hard for me then. On monday, I'll ask mr. brown, our school librarian, if he thinks I could read it now.

Dear Aunt Lee:

What a surprise it was to receive that package from you. Dad and I could not imagine what it might be. Because the box was so heavy we thought that it might be full of big books. Of course we both love books but we love cookies and cakes, too. How did you know we would not have time to bake for ourselves.

You know that my favorite cookies are the ones with green icing. Thank you, Aunt Lee for including those. My dad's favorite cookies are the ones that look like pinwheels. We are looking forward to trying the new kinds of cookies in the box.

We are grateful for that fruitcake, too. The pieces of candied fruit in the cake look like little jewels. Dad and I think the fruitcake might be too pretty to eat. Did you use Great-grandpa's recipe! I'm guessing that you did!

Love

Terry

I have a piano lesson on Saturday at 10-30 in the morning. I'm a new student. I have learned three scales so far. I can play a C-major scale a G-major scale, and a D-major scale. I can only play the scales with my right hand but next week my piano teacher will teach me how to play the scales with my left hand. The pieces I am learning to play are easy and a little silly. I have learned "Teddy's Picnic," "Dance Tune, and "Sunny Day." My teacher says that it won't be long before I can learn more interesting music. I want to play the great pieces of Bach, Beethoven Brahms, and the Beatles.

Musical talent runs in our family. Mom plays the cello in an orchestra and dad plays the trumpet in a Dixieland band. Because she is still very small my little sister plays a tiny violin. Did you know that violins come in different sizes for kids. When she first started taking violin lessons my little sister practiced on a violin made from a cardboard box. It had just one string! My little sister is glad that I am taking piano lessons. "We can play duets, she says.

Dear Mr. Pecan,

For many years, I have been a fan of your companys products. My favorite is the Morning Madness Muffin I often pack one of these nutritious muffins in my backpack. Because your product is full of fruit, fiber, and nuts it gives me the energy that I need to walk to school.

I am writing to ask if you might consider giving a tour of your factory. I am the president of the Good Food for Good Fun Club at Middleville Middle School and I have been telling the club members about your fabulous products All of the members have agreed that they would be interested in seeing how the Morning Madness Muffin is made.

Thank you for considering my request.

Since the beginning of this school year I have been reviewing books for the Sixth Grade Gazette. Its now time for me to offer my recommendations for fun summer reading. What should you read first.

If you have not read Blue Willow start there The book was written by Doris Gates. The main character, Janey, is the daughter of migrant workers. Although I had learned about migrant workers in school. I did not know about what it might be like to grow up in a migrant family until I read this book. Blue Willow is at the very top of my list. Ill read it for a second time this summer.

Short stories can be fun to read, too. On a hot day, read Jack Londons story To Build a Fire.” Once you read that story about a man being lost in the Arctic ice and snow you will never complain about the summer heat again!

I like it when my dad drives me to school in his really old car. He keeps the radio tuned to a station that only plays old songs and he sings along. He knows almost all the words. When he doesn't know a word he just makes something up. Its always something funny that doesn't make any sense at all

When my big brother drives me to school, it's not as much fun. He listens to the radio, too but I dont like the music he listens to very much. He never sings along. He just keeps time by tapping his fingers on the steering wheel. Maybe hes nervous because he just earned his license.

When Mom drives me to school she turns the radio off. She wants to talk. "What will you do in school today" she asks I don't always want to talk, but sometimes it's nice.

Last winter, my neighbors lost their home to a fire. Life has been pretty rough for them the past few months. Today, people in the community have joined together to help rebuild their house. I'm one of several kids who decided to help.

"Can I carry that for you?" I asked one of the workers.

"Yes, you may," she replied. "Thank you. Now I can help with the framing."

I decided I could help most by doing little things for the workers. Pretty soon, I hardly had time to set down!

"Lie that bag of sand by the wheelbarrow, please!"

I layed the sand by the wheelbarrow and ran back to the workers.

"What's next?"

"Find out whose pouring the concrete," requested Rick.

"And who's hammer is this?" asked Gina.

"And to who does this hard hat belong?" Will called.

I don't think I never ran around so much in one day! When I went in my room that night, I laid down and went to sleep right away. I knew I needed to work just as hard for a whole week. However, I was happy to help make our neighbors' lives more good than before.

Our class put on a play for the whole school yesterday. It went pretty good.
My friends and me had a lot of fun!

All the actors remembered their lines, and the audience set still in their seats for the whole hour. I didn't have no lines to memorize because I worked backstage. I like being behind the scenes better than being on stage. Being in front of all those people would be too nerve-racking!

I was the prop master. My job was to make sure all the props were where they needed to be and were returned to the right places. During a play, things can get pretty hectic! At one point, we lost some props!

Before the show, I layed the swords by the prop table. Kerry and Catalina picked them up for their scene. They said they lay them in the same place after the scene, but no one could find them. Whom could have moved them?

It turned out that Kevin thought he needed them for the next scene, but he wasn't supposed to be onstage until the next act! He had stayed up all night rehearsing his lines and was confused. Thankfully, we found them in time and didn't have no more problems.

Kevin laid down for a nap this afternoon, so he is ready to go for our next performance. Our director and him had a talk about getting enough sleep before a performance!

My soccer coach retired this year. He was my coach for several years, so I wanted to do something special for him. My mom makes the better chocolate chip cookies in the world, so I decided to ask her to help me bake some for him. It was an interesting experience because I had never baked before!

“Mom, may you help me bake some cookies?” I asked.

“What? You, bake? For who?” she asked, shocked.

Mom taught me the basics of baking. I think I did pretty good! I insisted on doing most of it myself. Mom showed me how to measure the ingredients, told me what the abbreviations meant, and reminded me to keep an eye on the cookies in the oven. My only big mistake was when I lay the butter on the table and our cat ate it. That went bad.

I thought the cookies were really well. I hope Coach likes them. I don’t have no other presents!

“Who’s cookies are these?” Coach asked, with a cookie in his mouth.

“They’re mine,” I answered. “I baked them.”

“You’re kidding!” he exclaimed. “I might have to retire again next year just to get some more of these cookies!”

My favorite picture from the party is of Coach and I with cookie crumbs all over our faces!

The past tense of most verbs is formed by adding ed to the verb. Verbs that follow this rule are called regular verbs. For some regular verbs, you must make spelling changes before adding the ed ending.

- When a regular verb ends with one vowel and one consonant, double the final consonant before adding ed.

|                |         |        |         |
|----------------|---------|--------|---------|
| Present | stop    | rub    | plan    |
| Past    | stopped | rubbed | planned |
- When a regular verb ends in a silent e, drop that e before adding ed.

|                |        |       |       |
|----------------|--------|-------|-------|
| Present | snore  | type  | save  |
| Past    | snored | typed | saved |
- When a regular verb ends in a consonant followed by a y, change the y to i and add ed.

Many important things have happened in U.S. history on holidays. Take independence day, for example. On July 4, 1776, we know that the Declaration of Independence was signed. On July 4, 1827, slavery was outlawed in New York State. Other historic events have also happened on holidays. On new year's day in 1808, the Congress of the United States banned the practice of importing people to be sold as slaves. Enslaved people in Texas found out that they had been freed on June 19, 1864, and this day has since been celebrated as juneteenth. On christmas day 1868, President Andrew Johnson pardoned all Southerners who took part in the Civil War. The memorial day holiday was first celebrated after the Civil War to honor the fallen soldiers.

Read the story. Circle the words that need to be capitalized.

I'm studying the civil war in school this year. Last year, my family and I visited Gettysburg, Pennsylvania. We stayed near gettysburg college. My father was excited to find a store called try on war memories there. Dad is a member of the wallford historical society and he enjoys looking at books and photographs from other eras. He bought a copy of a book by Frederick Douglass, a driving force in the abolition movement. We walked all over the battlefields of Gettysburg, where we saw the peninsular memorial, the gettysburg hospital and many other sites dedicated to the memory of those who fought there. We took a tour with a park ranger in which we walked in formation like the soldiers along the path known as the railroad cut. One interesting place we visited was the emma woods house. emma woods was the only civilian killed during the battle of gettysburg. She was killed while baking bread for the union soldiers.

I was cast as Lucy, Pey, Shawn was cast as Charlie Brown, and Pedro was cast as Snoopy. We did warm-up exercises, read the script together, and then tried to act it out. Ms. Washington frowned, immac, and laughed as we struggled to bring the play to life. A piano player came, played the score, and directed our singing. Some parents took our measurements, brought in some sewing machines, and made costumes. The technical crew met with the director, drew up some plans, and made our set. As the weeks went by, we rehearsed our lines, practiced our singing, and learned some new dances. On opening night, we went onstage, performed like pros, and took our bows. The director, the pianist, and the stage crew took bows, too.

- Use lay to mean "to put or place."
Sometimes I lay down my book and play with him.

Proofread this paragraph. Correct any mistakes.

I like to keep my room very organized so I can find what I need. For instance, as soon as I come home from school, I lay my backpack on the floor by my chair. I take out the books I need for homework and lie those on top of the desk. My hamster's cage is on the right side of my desk. I always greet Hammy and pet him, but he usually just lies there. He's not very exciting. All he does is lay a piece of cedar shaving on top of another. When I finish my homework, I lay the paper on the left side of my desk for my mom to review. Before I lie down at night, I make sure everything is put away in its correct place. My clothes are organized by color, and my books are arranged alphabetically on the shelves. I even lie my glasses in the same place so I can find them in the morning. My friends tell me I should just lay back and relax at home, but I prefer to keep things neat.

My cat's name is Tiger Lily. She is both independent and affectionate. I adopted tiger lily from garver animal friends, a shelter on ferry road. It was a cold friday afternoon in early february when my mom and I went to the shelter. Ms. cindric, one of the volunteers at the shelter, told us that a little cat had been found in a recent snowstorm. The cat had not had enough to eat and was very cold.

I called to my mom, "can we keep her?"

"Of course, we can," Mom answered. "we can give her the love and care she needs."

At first, Tiger Lily was very shy, and she hid from us. However, it did not take long for her to learn that the sound of a can opener meant gourmet kitty, her favorite brand of cat food. By presidents' day, Tiger Lily had become a healthy and happy cat. She knows that we love her and will never let her be cold and hungry again.

In the year 1914, a war began in europe. That war would become known first as the Great War, then as the World War, and finally as world war I. War was declared on Serbia by austria on July 28 at 11 o'clock. That was the time when Archduke franz Ferdinand died after being shot as he rode through the streets of sarajevo. The war that began with a shot fired in a small city in serbia would soon engulf much of the world. The united states entered the war in 1917. Many people died. The world would never be the same.

Every year, we honor the veterans of all wars on November 11, veterans day. This holiday was originally called armistice day. The agreement that ended the great war was signed in 1918 on the eleventh day of the eleventh month. At 11 o'clock that day, the guns fell silent.

Nathaniel Hawthorne wrote one of my favorite books. Published in 1853, the book is called tanglewood tales. In that book, Hawthorne wrote stories based on famous greek myths. He wrote them so that the boys and girls of his century would enjoy them. Today, hawthorne's writing style seems a little old-fashioned, but that is one of the reasons I like it. My favorite story in the book is "the minotaur."

Dear Aunt Lee: o

What a surprise it was to receive that package from you! Dad and I could not imagine what it might be. Because the box was so heavy, we thought that it might be full of big books. Of course, we both love books, but we love cookies and cakes, too. How did you know we would not have time to bake for ourselves?

You know that my favorite cookies are the ones with green icing. Thank you, Aunt Lee, for including those. My dad's favorite cookies are the ones that look like pinwheels. We are looking forward to trying the new kinds of cookies in the box.

We are grateful for that fruitcake, too. The pieces of candied fruit in the cake look like little jewels. Dad and I think the fruitcake might be too pretty to eat. Did you use Great-grandpa's recipe? I'm guessing that you did!

Love,

Terry

I have a piano lesson on Saturday at 10:30 in the morning. I'm a new student. I have learned three scales so far. I can play a C-major scale, a G-major scale, and a D-major scale. I can only play the scales with my right hand, but next week my piano teacher will teach me how to play the scales with my left hand. The pieces I am learning to play are easy and a little silly. I have learned "Teddy's Picnic," "Dance Tune," and "Sunny Day." My teacher says that it won't be long before I can learn more interesting music. I want to play the great pieces of Bach, Beethoven, Brahms, and the Beatles.

Musical talent runs in our family. Mom plays the cello in an orchestra, and dad plays the trumpet in a Dixieland band. Because she is still very small, my little sister plays a tiny violin. Did you know that violins come in different sizes for kids? When she first started taking violin lessons, my little sister practiced on a violin made from a cardboard box. It had just one string! My little sister is glad that I am taking piano lessons. "We can play duets," she says.

Dec 21, 2006

Dear Mr. Pecan:

For many years, I have been a fan of your company's products. My favorite is the Morning Madness Muffin. I often pack one of these nutritious muffins in my backpack. Because your product is full of fruit, fiber, and nuts, it gives me the energy that I need to walk to school.

I am writing to ask if you might consider giving a tour of your factory. I am the president of the Good Food for Good Fun Club at Middleville Middle School, and I have been telling the club members about your fabulous products. All of the members have agreed that they would be interested in seeing how the Morning Madness Muffin is made.

Thank you for considering my request.

Since the beginning of this school year, I have been reviewing books for the Sixth Grade Gazette. Its now time for me to offer my recommendations for fun summer reading. What should you read first?

If you have not read Blue Willow, start there. The book was written by Doris Gates. The main character, Janey, is the daughter of migrant workers. Although I had learned about migrant workers in school, I did not know about what it might be like to grow up in a migrant family until I read this book. Blue Willow is at the very top of my list. Ill read it for a second time this summer.

Short stories can be fun to read, too. On a hot day, read Jack Londons story "To Build a Fire." Once you read that story about a man being lost in the Arctic ice and snow, you will never complain about the summer heat again!

What are you doing on this rainy Saturday? Im going to watch an old movie on television. Its called Plan Nine from Outer Space. I like science fiction movies. Before the movie comes on, Ill watch an old science fiction television show called Lost in Space. Ive seen a few episodes and they were pretty silly. One episode was called Invasion from the Fifth Dimension. Do you want to come over to watch TV with me? You can have some of my moms famous pizza! Send me an e-mail or an instant message. Ill be writing e-mails until Lost in Space comes on.

Rewrite the paragraph on the lines below. Remember to include all of the correct punctuation.

"Are you coming to the talent show tonight, Mr. Robson?" Cindy asked. "I will," she continued, "be reading a poem I wrote." "Thank you, Cindy, for reminding me. Ill be there!"

Cindy was glad that her language arts teacher would be coming to hear her read poetry tonight. Before taking Mr. Robsons class, Cindy didnt even know that she liked poetry. Now she was writing her own poetry and reading it out loud!

That evening, the auditorium was crowded. Cindys parents and her sister were there. At first, Cindy was very nervous, but then she saw her parents smiling faces. Mr. Robson was there, too, and he gave a thumbs-up sign and grinned. Cindy began reading her poem "My Cat Mimi with confidence.

I like it when my dad drives me to school in his really old car. He keeps the radio tuned to a station that only plays old songs, and he sings along. He knows almost all the words. When he doesnt know a word, he just makes something up. Its always something funny that doesnt make any sense at all.

When my big brother drives me to school, its not as much fun. He listens to the radio, too, but I dont like the music he listens to very much. He never sings along. He just keeps time by tapping his fingers on the steering wheel. Maybe hes nervous because he just earned his license.

When Mom drives me to school, she turns the radio off. She wants to talk. "What will you do in school today?" she asks. I dont always want to talk, but sometimes its nice.

Rewrite the first paragraph with the correct punctuation.

Last winter, my neighbors lost their home to a fire. Life has been pretty rough for them the past few months. Today, people in the community have joined together to help rebuild their house. I'm one of several kids who decided to help.

~~Can~~ <sup>May</sup> I carry that for you?" I asked one of the workers.

"Yes, you may," she replied. "Thank you. Now I can help with the framing."

I decided I could help most by doing little things for the workers. Pretty soon, I hardly had time to ~~set~~ <sup>sit</sup> down!

~~Lay~~ <sup>laid</sup> that bag of sand by the wheelbarrow, please!"

~~I layed~~ <sup>laid</sup> the sand by the wheelbarrow and ran back to the workers.

"What's next?"

"And to ~~who~~ <sup>whom</sup> does this hard hat belong?" Will called.

I don't think I ~~ever~~ <sup>lay</sup> ran around so much in one day! When I went in my room that night, I ~~laid~~ <sup>lay</sup> down and went to sleep right away. I knew I needed to work just as hard for a whole week. However, I was happy to help make our neighbors' lives ~~more good~~ <sup>better</sup> than before.

Our class put on a play for the whole school yesterday. It went pretty ~~good~~ <sup>well</sup>.
My friends and ~~me~~ <sup>I</sup> had a lot of fun!

All the actors remembered their lines, and the audience ~~set~~ <sup>sat</sup> still in their seats for the whole hour. I didn't have ~~no~~ <sup>any</sup> lines to memorize because I worked backstage. I like being behind the scenes better than being on stage. Being in front of all those people would be too nerve-racking!

I was the prop master. My job was to make sure all the props were where they needed to be and were returned to the right places. During a play, things can get pretty hectic! At one point, we lost some props!

Before the show, ~~I layed~~ <sup>laid</sup> the swords by the prop table. Kerry and Catalina picked them up for their scene. They said they ~~lay~~ <sup>laid</sup> them in the same place after the scene, but no one could find them. ~~Who~~ <sup>Who</sup> could have moved them?

It turned out that Kevin thought he needed them for the next scene, but he wasn't supposed to be onstage until the next act! He had stayed up all night rehearsing his lines and was confused. Thankfully, we found them in time and didn't have ~~no~~ <sup>any</sup> more problems.

Kevin ~~laid~~ <sup>lay</sup> down for a nap this afternoon, so he is ready to go for our next performance. Our director and ~~him~~ <sup>he</sup> had a talk about getting enough sleep before a performance!

My soccer coach retired this year. He was my coach for several years, so I wanted to do something special for him. My mom makes the ~~better~~ <sup>best</sup> chocolate chip cookies in the world, so I decided to ask her to help me bake some for him. It was an interesting experience because I had never baked before!

"Mom, ~~may~~ <sup>can</sup> you help me bake some cookies?" I asked.

"What? You, bake? For ~~who~~ <sup>whom</sup>?" she asked, shocked.

"I want to make them for Coach Brewer's retirement party."

Mom taught me the basics of baking. I think I did pretty ~~good~~ <sup>well</sup>. I insisted on doing most of it myself. Mom showed me how to measure the ingredients, told me what the abbreviations meant, and reminded me to keep an eye on the cookies in the oven. My only big mistake was when I ~~lay~~ <sup>laid</sup> the butter on the table and our cat ate it. That went ~~bad~~ <sup>badly</sup>.

I thought the cookies were really ~~well~~ <sup>good</sup>. I hope Coach likes them. I don't have ~~no~~ <sup>any</sup> other presents!

~~Whose~~ <sup>Whose</sup> cookies are these?" Coach asked, with a cookie in his mouth.

"They're mine," I answered. "I baked them."

"You're kidding!" he exclaimed. "I might have to retire again next year just to get some more of these cookies!"

My favorite picture from the party is of Coach and ~~I~~ <sup>me</sup> with cookie crumbs all over our faces!
